

TOUBKAL FUNDRAISING TREK

Thu 2 May - Mon 6 May 2013

The purpose of this trek is to raise money for Jamie Procter's Foundation.

For every 8 team members in this trek, more than 40 deserving young people will have the opportunity to experience rural life and outdoor pursuits in an activity centre in Devon. Team members will be limited to 12.

The Trek

Professionally led ascent of Jebel Toubkal, the highest point in Northern Africa, at 4167m.

We spend three days in the mountains before returning for an afternoon of rest in the exotic city of Marrakech.

Anyone who is physically fit can complete this trek.

It is equivalent to 2 long days walking in the Lake District or Snowdonia.

Itinerary

- 2 May - Fly to Marrakech, transfer to accommodation in Imlil
- Imlil is the beautiful mountain village on the border of the Toubkal National Park
- 3 May - Walk to Toubkal Base Camp refuge
- 6 hours walking up a gentle gradient, gaining an altitude of 1470m
- 4 May - Summit Toubkal and descend to gîte in Arroumd
- a long but tremendously rewarding day with stunning panoramic views from the top
- 9 hours walking - 906m ascent, 2260m descent
- 5 May - Short walk to Imlil and transfer to Marrakech
- Afternoon exploring the old town before evening celebration
- 6 May - Fly to London

Costs

Trek	£500. This will cover all ground costs, i.e. food, water, transport, accommodation (no camping) and guiding.
Flights	Approx. £200. We ask you to book your flights independently.
Fundraising	£1000. We are asking for a minimum of £1000 from sponsorship and donations for The Foundation.
Total	Approx. £1700

For further information contact Tom Battye tom@tombattye.com / 07720 286 696